Kunsthall Trondheim is a new contemporary art institution which will open in the old fire station in Trondheim city centre. The new location will offer two levels of exhibition space of approximately 1000 m2. Since 2013 Kunsthall Trondheim has been run as a pilot project by director Helena Holmberg, and on the initiative of the city of Trondheim and the county of Sør-Trøndelag. Kunsthall Trondheim is supported by the Art Council Norway. The programme has included exhibitions, productions, publications, discussions, international collaborations and informal residency-visits.
